Our Recommendations

- Access the portal periodically and check each subject once a week.
- Monitor your child’s progress and use this knowledge to show a genuine interest in their academic performance.
- Use this information as a way to start a meaningful dialog with your child. (Describe what you have learned? What did you find challenging?)
- Value what your child is learning more than the grades they are earning.
- Ask your child how often they review the portal. Share your use of the portal with them open and honestly.
- The portal is not a substitute for face-to-face conversations with our teachers.
- Establish corrective behaviors if the portal reveals incomplete assignments or marginal performance. For example, establish a homework time, review assignments and agendas.
- Encourage and support goals for your child’s continuous improvement.

We Suggest Parents/Guardians Avoid

- Micromanaging your child's progress by checking the portal too frequently.
- Communicating grades before the teacher has reviewed them with your child.
- Overreacting to a less than desirable score or grade.
